Post-Adoption Support

Our service continues with parents if their children are removed.

We enable parents to access the letterbox service, where they write annually to the adoptive parents.

We signpost parents to appropriate therapy, if they wish to pursue this.

We offer volunteer support for parents whose children are under a Special Guardianship or in long-term foster care.

We encourage parents to attend group support. This can be for parents who have had children adopted or have children in long-term foster care.

The Good Practice Guidance for working with parents with a Learning Disability is very easy to access online. Please also be sure to access www.bristol.ac.uk/sps/wtpn/ for more information around Good Practice.

Please note:
There does not have to be a formal diagnosis of a learning disability. If someone is struggling to understand and retain information, please contact us.

Volunteers

Our volunteers provide long-term advocacy support for parents with learning disabilities. Their main role is to support and encourage parents to address issues themselves.

Volunteers can help where there are low-level concerns, such as supporting parents to attend Child in Need Meetings or communicating with their children's school.

Volunteers can also provide support for parents whose children are no longer in their care, such as attending Looked After Children Reviews with parents.

Easy– Read Information

We produce our own easy-read resources for parents. Please contact us if you are interested in using any of our materials.

Parent Groups

Parents are invited to attend peer-group support. A great way to meet others and to offer their input and suggestions regarding services and the materials we develop!

Training

We offer training for professionals on Good Practice when working with a parent with a learning disability.

Please get in touch if you wish to reserve a place!
