General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) Privacy Notice.

Introduction

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), which is an EU directive, comes into force in May 2018 and will be incorporated into UK data protection laws, so will apply even after the UK leaves the EU. The GDPR consolidates and strengthens current data protection safeguards as developed under the Data Protection Act 1998. The Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) considers that if organisations are already compliant with the current data protection laws, they will most likely find it easy to comply with the GDPR.

1. Residents. As a registered care provider, we must collect some personal information on our residents, including financial information, which is essential to our being able to provide effective care and support. The information is contained in individual files and other record systems, all of which are subject to strict security and authorised access policies. Personal information that becomes inactive, eg from enquiries or prospective users who do not enter the service is also kept securely for as long as it is needed, before being safely disposed of.

4. How we collect information

The bulk of residents', employees' and third parties' personal information is collected directly from them or through form filing, mainly manually, but also electronically for some purposes, e.g. when contacting the service through its website and Facebook.

With residents, we might continue to build on the information provided in enquiry and referral forms, and, for example, from needs assessments, which feed into their care and support plans. With employees, personal information is obtained directly and with consent through such means as references and criminal records (DBS) checks. When recruiting staff, we seek applicants' explicit consent to obtain all the information needed for us to decide to employ them. All personal information obtained to meet our regulatory requirements will always be treated in line with our explicit consent, data protection and confidentiality policies.

Our website and databases are regularly checked by experts to ensure they meet all privacy standards and comply with our general data protection security and protection policies.

Likewise, we would not disclose information about our employees without their clear agreement, e.g., when providing a reference.

The only exceptions to this general rule would be where we are required by law to provide information, e.g., to help with a criminal investigation. Even when seeking to notify the local authority of a safeguarding matter or the C.Q.C. of an incident that requires us to notify it, we would only do so with consent or ensure that the information provided is treated in confidence. Where we provide information for statistical purposes, the information is aggregated and provided anonymously so that there is no privacy risk involved in its use.
